

Matthew Federici

Matthew Federici, M.S. is the treasurer of the board for INAPS. He is the executive director for the Copeland Center, which operates the national consumer technical assistance center Doors to Wellbeing. Matthew has been a peer supporter as well as served in the public mental health system for over 25 years. He is an Advanced Level WRAP Facilitator and a Certified Psychiatric Rehabilitation Professional. He received his M.S. from Rutgers University and was formerly the program director for the Institute for Recovery and Community Integration, a training program for the certified peer specialist workforce.